TWO JĀTAKA MANUSCRIPTS FROM THE NATIONAL LIBRARY IN BANGKOK

Although the describing of Pāli manuscripts has a fairly long history, starting with Westergaard's catalogue<sup>1</sup> of the manuscripts in Copenhagen, even the knowledge of collections of Pāli manuscripts kept in European libraries and museums is far from being comprehensive. A number of lists and short descriptions have appeared in earlier numbers of this Journal.<sup>2</sup> As far as British collections are concerned, a new catalogue of Sinhalese manuscripts in the India Office Library has appeared,<sup>3</sup> and another describing the Neville Collection in the British Museum is in preparation.<sup>4</sup> Further information about older catalogues and unpublished handlists may be found in the Pāli Buddhist Review.<sup>5</sup>

In France, the catalogue of the Bibliothèque Nationale in Paris is under revision, and a short supplement to Cabaton's catalogue<sup>6</sup> has been published recently by Jacqueline Filliozat.<sup>7</sup> The same scholar has also collected further information<sup>8</sup> about Pāli manuscripts, mostly of later texts, kept in the same library.

The rich collection of Pāli manuscripts in Denmark has been described by G. Cœdès<sup>9</sup> and C. E. Godakumbara<sup>10</sup> in Volumes 2,2 and 1, respectively, of the Catalogue of Oriental Manuscripts, Xylographs etc. in Danish Collections. Volume 2,1 dealing with Cambodian and Burmese Pāli manuscripts is under preparation.<sup>11</sup>

C. Regamey has given information<sup>12</sup> about a Swiss collection containing mainly Pāli manuscripts, while German collections are in the process of being catalogued in various volumes of the monumental Verzeichnis der Oritentalischen Handschriften in Deutschland [Inventory of Oriental Manuscripts in Germany] founded by W. Voigt (1911–1982).<sup>13</sup>

As far as Asia is concerned, the only Indian collection described so far seems to be that in the Adyar Library. <sup>14</sup> In those countries where Theravāda Buddhism prevails, there is a good catalogue of the Colombo Museum <sup>15</sup> which, however,
